What kind of legacy will you leave for your loved ones? Money? Stuff? There’s something better. Something that won’t cost you a dime, and that won’t be wasted or sold or thrown away by your heirs. It’s a little piece of yourself that will delight you, the giver, as much as it will the family and friends who receive your gift.
Please join this bi-monthly workshop which serves as a springboard for sharing the most precious legacy you own—your life. We’ll be writing our life stories in manageable chunks of memories that matter. In no time at all, you will have created a collection of short vignettes that tell a story unique to you. When we remember our own parents and grandparents, it’s typically not the material things they left us that we treasure. It’s the memories. LEAD VOLUNTEER: MARY M.
